

11. The Council of Trent had already recognized the great catechetical usefulness contained in the celebration of Mass but was unable to bring out all its consequences in regard to actual practice. In fact, many at that time requested that permission be given to use the vernacular in celebrating the Eucharistic Sacrifice. And the Council declared worthy of censure anyone maintaining that 'the rite of the Roman Church, in which part of the Canon and the words of consecration are pronounced in a low voice, is to be condemned, or that the Mass must be celebrated only in the vernacular'. Nevertheless, at the same time as it prohibited the use of the vernacular in the Mass, it ordered, on the other hand, pastors of souls to put appropriate catechesis in its place: 'lest Christ's flock go hungry... (General Instruction of the Roman Missal)

Neo Catechumenate: Two 'missionaries' from this group (Bernie and Maria) came to our Parish this week, and were welcomed by Fr Rafal staying in the parish house for two nights. They came as two disciples being sent out much like the disciples in the Gospel '...as lambs in the midst of wolves, carrying no money, no belt, bag.... - seeking shelter wherever it is offered...' They moved among us in the parish area simply speaking about Jesus and the Gospel. We were glad to make them welcome and wish them every blessing in their ministry.

The Celebration of The Eucharist

7. In truly difficult times, when the Catholic faith in the sacrificial nature of the Mass, the ministerial priesthood, and the real and perpetual presence of Christ under the Eucharistic species were called into question, St. Pius V was first of all concerned with preserving the more recent tradition, then unjustly assailed, introducing only very slight changes into the sacred rite...

8. Furthermore, continuing progress in the study of the holy Fathers has also shed upon the theology of the mystery of the Eucharist the light brought by the doctrine of such illustrious Fathers of Christian antiquity as St. Irenaeus, St. Ambrose, St. Cyril of Jerusalem, and St. John Chrysostom.

10. For, when the Fathers of the Second Vatican Council reaffirmed the dogmatic pronouncements of the Council of Trent, they spoke at a far different time in world history, and, for that reason, were able to bring forward proposals and measures regarding pastoral life that could not have even been foreseen four centuries earlier.
